The screenshot shows the GraduateSchools.com website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the site logo and a search engine. Below this is a main content area with a large banner for Oklahoma City University. To the right of the banner is a vertical list of featured schools. Below the featured schools is a section for sponsored text link ads. At the bottom of the page is a footer ad for The University of Scranton. Red lines connect these elements to labels on the right side of the image.
